FFA Chapter Plans Many Activities

The local Carver Chapter of F.F.A.'s has resumed its work on its annual program of work. The following committees are busy at work planning its activities for the year: Entertainment of Sweetheart ball and budget activities. The eighth grade has charge of the entertainment, the ninth grade has charge of the supplementary budget committee and the 10th and 11th grades have charge of the Sweetheart Ball Committee. The reports will be presented in the next regular chapter meeting. The president Milton Chambers is asking a 100 percent attendance at the next meeting.

Impressive services were held at the Galilee Baptist Church last Sunday morning. The pastor delivered a special New Year's sermon from the subject: "I Resolve". Special music was rendered by the Senior and Junior Choirs of the church. Several visitors attended the service.

The regular church meeting was held at the Galilee Baptist Church last Saturday evening at 7 p.m. The program of work for the new year was adopted as presented by the pastor and deacon board. The main objective of the year will be the addition of the fellowship hall. Plans were presented and all efforts will be directed to have the addition by the annual meeting in August.

The general public is cordially invited to attend the regular preaching services at the Mount Shiloh Baptist Church this 2nd Sunday morning at 11 a.m.

The Pastor Speaks

ARE YOU HARD-HEADED?

Just how much does it take to convince a person that he ought to build his life around Jesus Christ? How much does it take to change a hard-headed person into a willing follower of the Lord? The answer is that it takes more for some than it does for others.

Take, for example, the Jews who surrounded Jesus in his lifetime. They saw many miracles from our Lord. In particular, many of the Jews saw him one day raise a dead man, Lazarus, from the tomb. Instead of admitting that Jesus had performed a miracle and confessing him as their Lord, some of them viewed this miracle met together, and the Scriptures record in John 11: 53 that, "From that day forth they took counsel together for to put him to death." For these, Jesus' miracle only served them to deadly opposition. Their counterparts are present in our time also.

How much of God's goodness have you absorbed and soaked up in your heart? Many demonstrations of God's power have you let pass by without heeding them? How much of God's favor have you taken in and yet remained sour and untouched deep down?

Remember, it is not just the one who professes to love the Lord Jesus who is honored. It is not just the one who remembers that God was good to him fifteen or twenty years ago that God gives his blessing to the one who "hath my commandments, and keepeth them, he it is that loveth me: and he that loveth me shall be loved of my Father, and I will love him, and will manifest myself to him." (John 14:21)

If you happen to be a hard-headed non - Christian, perhaps you need to think more about what Jesus Christ did for you when he died on the cross. If you happen to be a hard-headed Christian, then perhaps you need to take the commandments that the Lord has given you and put them into practice in our own lives. First of all, the means, there came to him the temptation of the body or material things. Having fasted forty days and forty nights, Jesus was a natural target for the Tempter: "If you are the Son of God, command these stones to become loaves of bread." Use these powers of yours, use them to satisfy the urgent call of your own body! Indeed, why not use them to satisfy the material desire of all men and thus win their allegiance and loyalty? It must have been a strong temptation but Jesus knew that men do "not live by bread alone" and refused, as someone has put it, to "forsake a Cross for a bakeshop."

The Use of Power

The second temptations should also be familiar. Obviously, to throw himself down from the pinnacle of the temple and then to be saved by the intervention of God's angels would be an impressive display of power that would win the admiration and support of many. Yet Jesus knew this temptation was a clever deception, for though people are impressed with power, they are not won to the kingdom by it. They will soon ask for a bigger and better demonstration of power. Jesus himself was later to say: "Neither will they be persuaded though one rise from the dead," Naked power will never won anything in the long run, it wins the battles, but loses the war.

In the third temptation, the Temptor is more direct, I see you have a job you want to do, he says to Jesus, all right, I'll show you how you can get the job done quickly and easily! All power (the kingdoms of the earth) I will give you, if you will fall down and worship me." All he would have to do would be to compromise his loyalty, to employ unworthy means for the sake of worthy ends.

The Resources of Faith

It would have been a great temptation to Jesus, It is also a great temptation to us, We can't participate in or ensure the prosecution of lawbreakers, We bear arms and kill in the interest of "saving life." We lie for the sake of an election or cheat in what we decide is a "good cause." We justify the making and selling of an inferior product for the sake of providing for our families. We forget that the ends cannot be separated from in daily life. Don't be a hard-headed person. Let God's kindness and goodness as shown to you in Jesus Christ both transform you and bring you to Know him personally.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

UNTIL THE ANGELS COME

Lesson for January 11, 1970

Background Scripture: Matthew 4:11; Genesis 3; Psalms 91; Romans 7; Hebrews 2:14, 4: 14-16.

Devotional Reading: Psalms 91.

When Jesus had successfully withstood the temptations that came to him on the Mount of Temptation, Matthew tells us: "Then the devil left him and behold angels came and ministered to him" (Matt. 4:11). All of us want that part -- the ministry of the angels -- but what do you do until the angels come?

Let's see what Jesus did.

The temptation of Jesus is not simply an interesting event in the life of Christ, but it is relevant to us in a way that few historical events can ever be. The writer of Hebrews puts his finger on it when he says: "For we have not a high priest who is not able to sympathize with our weaknesses, but one who in every respect has been tempted as we are, yet without sin" (4:15).

Also Our Story

It was a time of testing for Jesus, and the same kind of testing that comes to us today. Thus, it is not only a story about Jesus, it is also our story. What we see in this story is a reflection of, what Robert Leslie has termed, "the struggle we must confront every man as he steps from the shelter of the family into the arena of life" (see Jesus And Logotherapy, Abingdon Press, 1967).

These temptations, then, that came to him in the wilderness should not be hard to identify ductions. Generally, the new schedule T is designed as a worksheet, but in some instances it must be filed along with the other schedules. Certain changes in the 1969 forms will affect farmers, retired persons, owners of rental property and others.

Do you want to learn more about this subject? Are you and your family taking advantage of all deductions legally allowed? Remember, even though some well qualified person may be completing your return, you must furnish him the right information. Also, you are responsible for your return regardless of who fills it out for you.

If you are a full-time (or part time) farmer you may benefit from attending the meeting to be held at Oakville Elementary School starting promptly at 7:30 p.m. on Jan. 20 and designed primarily for farmers. The proper methods of reporting farm related income and expenses will be explained. An example demonstrating a correctly filed far tax return will be discussed and time will be allowed for a question and answer period. Come and bring your spouse since a joint understanding of the tax laws is very helpful and desirable.

In addition to the meeting designed primarily for farmers, the Rurtian Club and County Extension Office have planned a meeting for the general public at Oakville Elementary School, February 19 at 7:30 p.m. At this meeting for the public, the new form 1040 and other new schedules will be explained.

James A. Nolen, Extension Agent, Farm Management will conduct both meetings. Mark these dates on your calendar now.

Not too many people realize that such a vital operation was performed for him, says Freddy, but he achieved at least a small measure of national attention. county area is expected to increase in value to $73 million.

This expansion of agriculture in the Southern Piedmont will come about partly because of urban development in northern and eastern Virginia say the experts.

With some "definite interest" by Campbell, Charlotte and Appomattox counties large placement of the facility in Appomattox, added support is needed, says the county committee, to make sure that legislators and the governor - elect be made aware of the importance of agriculture research and the need for adequate facilities in the Piedmont area. At present in this region there is a flue-cured tobacco research station at Chatham and the Southside Research station at Charlotte Court House. It is thought that both of these would be closed and consolidated with the larger, proposed facility.

Support for the station has come from the board of directors of the Appomattox County Farm Bureau and from the Concord, Evergreen, Oakville, Pamplin, Spout Spring, and Tri-County Ruritan Clubs.

The 21 - county committee says that by 1980 Southern Piedmont will be the center of agricultural production in the Old Dominion. And they add, "Appomattox County has a bright agricultural future ahead."

Leaf Market Start Delayed To January 13

Dark-fired tobacco markets at Farmville, Kenbridge and Lynchburg will reopen Tuesday, Jan. 13, instead of the originally-planned January 6 date in order to assist the buying companies to meet labor shortage problems.

The week's delay was granted last week by the Virginia Dark-Fired Tobacco Marketing Committee at the request of buying interests, according to T. B. Hall, Jr., a member of the committee and general manager of the growers' marketing cooperative.

"The committee members were in agreement that the delay was in the best interest of all concerned, including growers and warehousemen, as well as the buyers," Hall said.

Labor shortages in the processing plant communities have slowed the many operations required there after leaf is brought in from the market warehouses. Sorting, drying, processing and packing call for heavy manpower needs.

The Marketing Committee also agreed to remand the first week after the markets reopen to set a closing date.

Estimates now place the amount of the 1969 crop already marketed and sold at 47 per cent of the 6,370,000-pound total production. With heavy reopening offerings anticipated in the three-day marketing week of January 13-15, the committee will be in good position to make a closing date determination afterward.

At the holiday closing, combined sales at all the three markets for the season amounted to 3,163,697 pounds. This sold at an all-time high average of $54.78 per hundred pounds.
